Thrilled to Share a Milestone! 🎉

After an intensive 14-day Training of Trainers (ToT) on Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights (SRHR) and Mental Health, I'm proud to have successfully completed the program and received my certification!

This experience has deepened my knowledge and sharpened my facilitation skills, particularly in addressing critical issues such as:

- Adolescent and youth SRHR needs
- Gender-based violence and rights awareness
- Mental health first aid and psychosocial support
- Community-centered advocacy and peer education strategies

The training also emphasized the power of inclusive, rights-based approaches to health education and the importance of creating safe, non-judgmental spaces — especially for vulnerable groups.

I'm grateful to the facilitators, fellow participants, and the organizing institution Raising Futures Kenya for creating such an empowering learning environment.

What's next?

I'm excited to cascade this knowledge, support community education initiatives, students and staff, and work collaboratively towards advancing SRHR and mental well-being for all.

Let's keep the conversation going. Feel free to connect, collaborate or share opportunities where this work can have impact.
